LAS LAGUNAS DE VILLAFÁILA NATURE RESERVE

patrimonionatural.org

The most significant sanctuary for waterfowl, steppe birds, and migratory birds in Castilla y León.

The Lagunas de Villafáila Natural Reserve spans eleven municipalities and covers an area of 32,682 hectares. It is situated in Tierra de Campos, where the cereal steppe dominates the landscape. In the centre of it and breaking the monotony imposed by the dry farming, an oasis-like lagoon complex of a temporary and saline nature appears.

This infinite agricultural landscape holds a special beauty, especially at sunrise and sunset. In addition to its natural beauty, the region boasts a rich architectural heritage of rammed earth and adobe known as the "mud culture". However, it is Villafáila's two significant habitats that highlight its importance. The wetlands provide refuge for a diverse array of migratory birds, making this protected area one of the most important wintering sites in the Iberian Peninsula. Additionally, the dryland fields harbour one of the largest populations of great bustards in Europe.

TOURIST PROPOSALS

La librería-museo Historia Secreta, Las Navas del Marques, Ávila (cedida oficina turismo Las Navas del Marques)

BOOKSHOP-MUSEUM HISTORIA SECRETA DE LAS NAVAS DEL MARQUÉS, ÁVILA

The bookshop-museum Historia Secreta de Las Navas del Marqués, created by the journalist and writer Tomás García Yebra, is a space where visitors can enjoy his collection of antique objects and a wide array of literary works. Inside, there is a stunning abstract ceiling painting and the intriguing staircase suspended from above. In the heart of the museum, you will find the iconic cart used for decades by Mrs. Felisa to sell sunflower seeds, sweets, and other delights to the local children. You can also explore fascinating exhibits, including a plumber's bench and various tools belonging to local people, including a cash register, a true museum piece. Open trunks filled with books and wooden wine crates also serve as bookshelves. The museum features several dedicated spaces: one for trades, one for sports, especially football, and another for the civil war, among others. On the ground floor, there is a 1950s-60s railway model with a striking train, alongside an area dedicated to the old school.

Cementerio Sad Hill, Burgos

SAD HILL CEMETERY, BURGOS

During the summer of 1966, much of the Burgos region between Salas de los Infantes and Covarrubias was transformed into the American Wild West to host the filming of "The Good, the Bad and the Ugly" by Italian director Sergio Leone. The film's iconic climax was shot in the Valley of Mirandilla, between the towns of Contreras and Santo Domingo de Silos. This valley, surrounded by mountain ranges with terrain reminiscent of New Mexico or Virginia (USA), set the perfect stage for the legendary showdown. The memorable scene features Clint Eastwood, Eli Wallach, and Lee Van Cleef in a tense three-way duel, or "Triello," at a war cemetery, vying for $200,000 buried in a grave. Set designer Carlo Simi's vision came to life in just three days, constructed by 250 Spanish soldiers. The result was a stunning circular cemetery with over 5,000 graves, arranged in concentric circles around a central cobblestone plaza, 30 meters in diameter, where the film's climax unfolds.

CAVES IN LEÓN

Among the wonders you can see in the province of León are the geological and natural treasures inside the mountains. Three caves stand out for their beauty and are open to visitors. The Valporquero Cave, located just 47 kilometres from the capital, is considered one of the most important karstic complexes on the Iberian Peninsula and offers various tours, including a water course tour for the more adventurous. The Llamazares Cave, located in the Argüellos region, is renowned for its rare coral-like formations that set it apart from other karstic caves. The Cave of Valdelago, located in Sahelices de Sabero, discovered by chance in 1999, has some unique limestone formations, with some formations covered by Aragonite crystals. Beyond these subterranean marvels, the province of León is rich with numerous caves, grottoes, and cavities, both natural and man-made. Explore the intriguing Menudas Caves, the historic San Genadio Cave, the fascinating Orellán Gallery, the mysterious Raposa Cave, and the spiritual Hermitage of the Virgen del Manadero Cave.

San Juan Bautista, Huerta Guadian, Palencia

KILOMETRE ZERO OF PALENTINE ROMANESQUE

Undoubtedly, Palentine Romanesque stands as one of Spain's most renowned architectural styles, with the province of Palencia hosting the largest concentration of such artistry across Europe. From north to south, and from east to west, from Cerrato and Tierra de Campos to the Palentine Mountains, visitors can enjoy and marvel at the creations of skilled medieval stonemasons. While there are many landmarks, today we focus on the "Kilometre Zero" of this Romanesque art found in the capital of Palencia. Located in one of the most beautiful corners of Palencia city, within the Huerta de Guadián Park, is a small chapel dedicated to San Juan Bautista. Originally from Villanueva del Río Pisuerga, a small village in the northern part of the province, the chapel was painstakingly moved here stone by stone to prevent it from being submerged under the waters of the Aguilar de Campoo reservoir. Declared a Historic Artistic Monument in 1981, inside the chapel visitors can explore a model depicting life in a medieval village, watch a short video about its history, or use new technologies to explore all the Romanesque routes throughout the province.

MORILLE ART CEMETERY, SALAMANCA

What do a Pontiac, a hang glider, the plans for the cathedral that was never built in Pozuelo de Alarcón, and Rodrigo Cortés' film "Buried" have in common? They are all buried at the Morille Art Cemetery! If you're eager to discover something truly unique and avant-garde, don't hesitate to visit Morille and explore the Museum-Mausoleum, where over 50 artworks are already interred. Initiated by artists Domingo Sánchez Blanco and the late Javier Utray, this unconventional museum aims to bury pieces of recognized artistic value and/or directly linked to the avant-garde art scene. Here, the burial process itself is considered an integral part of the artwork, transforming it into a genuine performance.

Feria Medieval de Maderuelo, Segovia (cedida Fco. Javier Bravo)

12TH CENTURY MADERUELO, SEGOVIA

At the end of August, a medieval festival takes place in the charming town of Maderuelo. Located in the northern part of the province, this village immerses visitors in the 12th century, a time of economic prosperity, with festivities where both locals and tourists dress in period costumes. Throughout Saturday and Sunday, visitors can experience troop arrivals, archery contests, falconry displays, catapult launches into the walled enclosure, troubadour dances, and the ordainment of a Templar brother. Additionally, the market offers a variety of local delicacies and artisanal goods, alongside demonstrations of traditional crafts, all accompanied by period music and songs. Beyond the festival, Maderuelo's medieval streets, its town arch, and churches—including the Ermita de la Vera Cruz, with its preserved frescoes now housed in the Prado Museum—are well worth exploring. Nearby attractions include the Linares del Arroyo reservoir, offering stunning views of the Hoces del Río Riaza, and the nearby Sabinar de Hornuez. This year, in December 2024, the centennial celebration of the National Monument declaration for 12th-century mural paintings at the Ermita de la Vera Cruz will take place.

SAN SATURIO HERMITAGE, SORIA

Along the San Saturio Promenade, affectionately called the "Lovers' Walk" by Antonio Machado, we arrive at the San Saturio Hermitage, a gem on the banks of the Duero River in Soria. This is where the hermit Saturio lived, having distributed his wealth to the poor before retreating to a cave by the Duero River. The hermitage, carved into the rock, vividly portrays the life of Saint Saturio, renowned for his miracles. The unique setting evokes the ascetic lifestyle of hermits. Passing through the cave into the chapel, visitors glimpse the stunning views of the Duero River, which begins its journey not far from here. Built in the late 17th century in a Baroque style, with an octagonal floor plan leading to a domed roof, the hermitage's walls are adorned with magnificent illustrations by Juan Zapata y Ferrer, depicting the saint's life, while the dome portrays the lives of other hermits. A place filled with magic and poetry, as captured in the words: "I've seen once more the golden poplars, roadside poplars of the Duero, between San Polo and San Saturio, beyond the ancient walls of Soria... poplars of love by the water that flows and passes by and dreams, You go with me, I carry you in my heart! [A. S. Kline, 2004]"

HOUSE MUSEUMS IN THE CITY OF VALLADOLID

Casa Museo José Zorrilla, Valladolid

Currently, the city of Valladolid dedicates three of its museums to famous writers and prominent historical figures. The Cervantes House Museum, where the writer lived in the early 17th century, stands as Spain's only preserved residence of the literary figure in its original form. It preserves his family documents and faithfully recreates the spaces from his time. Christopher Columbus passed away in Valladolid in 1506. His House Museum, inspired by his son Diego Colón's viceregal palace, honours the navigator and recounts his discoveries. It features maps from the colonial era and artefacts from Inca, Aztec, and Maya cultures. The Zorrilla House Museum captures the romantic ambiance of the 19th century, with its garden being one of the city's most enchanting spots. José Zorrilla, renowned for "Don Juan Tenorio," was born in this house, spent his childhood here, and returned in adulthood. The museum showcases documents, manuscripts, furniture, and personal items donated by his widow. Throughout the year, all three museums actively promote and host cultural events focused on literature, poetry, and theatre.

Its pure, crystalline waters and well-equipped facilities make it an ideal destination for a weekend getaway or to unwind and take a dip away from the hustle and bustle.
